

The Friendly Elephant

In a lush jungle, there was a friendly elephant named Ella. Ella had big floppy ears and a long trunk that she used for playing and exploring.

One sunny day, Ella met a shy monkey named Milo. Milo was lost and needed a friend. Ella offered Milo a ride on her back, and together they swung through the vines and danced under the stars.

From that day forward, Ella and Milo were inseparable. They showed everyone in the jungle that kindness and friendship make the world a better place.
